

Welcome to IAH 241c!

Your Own Arthurian Adventure

The background of the slide features several sets of curved, concentric lines in a light gray color, creating a sense of motion or depth. These lines are primarily located on the left and right sides of the slide, framing the central content.

What's in this video?

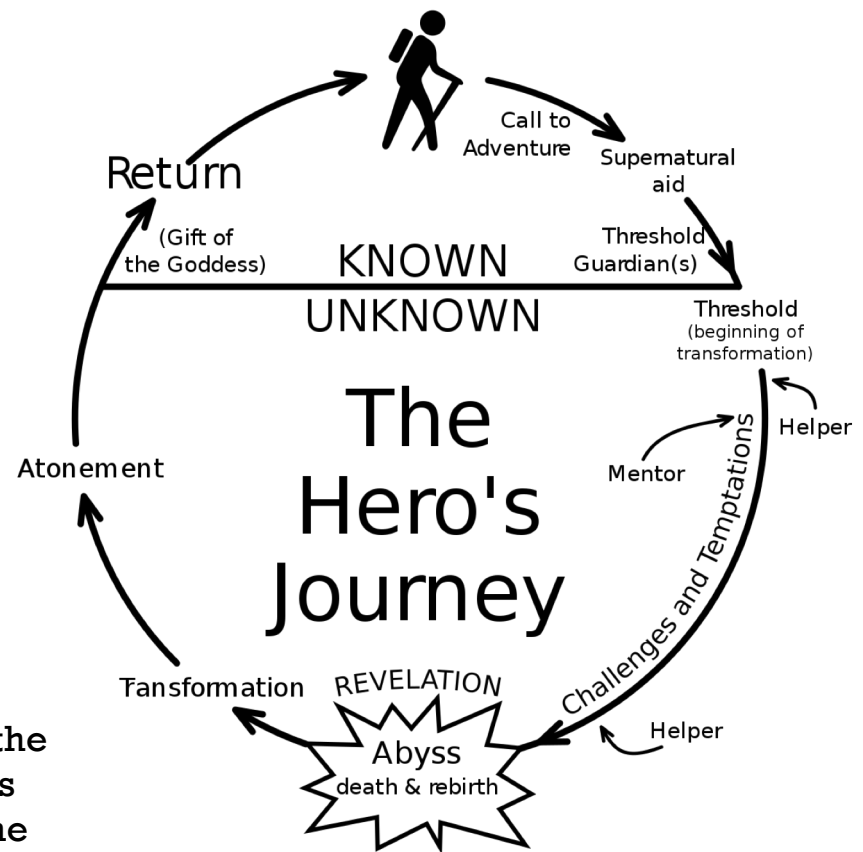

There are five more slides in this video. They attempt to answer the following questions:

- What's the purpose of the class?
- What will this course be like?
- Who is the professor?
- How can you get a 4.0 in this class?
- How can I get a copy of this slideshow?

THE PURPOSE OF THIS CLASS: to make you the hero of your own journey

To learn more about the pedagogy behind this purpose, check out the following website:

<https://sites.google.com/view/narrativeonline/the-framework>

What will this course be like?

Textual Heroes

Avatar Heroes

Student Heroes

Who is the professor?

Dr. Margot Valles
vallesm@msu.edu

- I teach for Religious Studies, Jewish Studies, English and, as you can probably figure out, IAH!
- I am passionate about teaching: my goal is to make the familiar unfamiliar and the unfamiliar familiar—that's where the most learning seems to happen.
- I am available by email all the time and my office hours are front and center on our D2L page. I love talking to students; Stop by any time.

How can you earn a 4.0 in this course?

- ☐ Do all the work!
- ☐ Have fun!
- ☐ If you're not sure, ask!

For the pdf of this video and for more information, click this link:

http://vallesm.msu.domains/welcome-video-for-iah-241c/

If you have any questions, concerns or just wanna chat, you can email me at:
vallesm@msu.edu